

Keep recurring work moving

Turn repeatable processes into clear workflows with assigned steps, approvals and automatic hand-offs. No coding required.

Build your first workflow

Work should not get lost between tools

When tasks, approvals and updates are spread across email, chat and spreadsheets, it becomes harder to see what is waiting, who owns the next step and where work has stalled. Relay brings those steps into one clear workflow.

Everything you need to keep work moving

Build workflows visually

Create repeatable processes with clear steps, owners and dependencies.

Route work automatically

Move work to the right person as soon as the previous step is complete.

Add approval steps

Keep reviews and sign-offs inside the workflow instead of chasing them separately.

See what is holding work up

Track what is waiting, in progress, blocked or complete from one dashboard.

How Relay works

1. Build your workflow

Add the steps, owners and approval points that make up the process.

2. Put work in motion

Start the workflow and let Relay route each step to the right person.

3. Track progress

See what is waiting, blocked, in progress or complete from one place.

Stay in control as work moves

Keep ownership clear

Each active step has an assigned owner, so everyone knows who needs to act next.

Adjust workflows as processes change

Update steps, owners and approval points without starting the workflow design again.

Keep approvals in context

Reviews and sign-offs stay connected to the work they relate to.

Ready to make recurring work easier to manage?

Build a clear workflow for your team and keep every step, owner and approval in one place.

Build your first workflow

Frequently asked questions

Do I need technical experience to build a workflow?

No. Relay is designed so teams can create and manage workflows without writing code.

Can I change a workflow after I create it?

Yes. You can update steps, owners and approval points as your process changes.

What happens if work gets blocked?

Relay shows where the workflow has stalled so the team can see what needs attention.

Can I see the status of all active work?

Yes. The dashboard shows what is waiting, in progress, blocked or complete.

Relay · Workflow automation for growing teams